

Edge Recruitment - moving on up

We've outgrown our premises on Flinders Street and moved to bigger and more stylish 'digs' in the leafy east end of Angas Street.

Gary Beesley, Edge Director says "the new premises offers us a tranquility that is hard to find in the city. It's close to the Hutt Street cafes and shops whilst providing the quiet elegance of the east side of the city. Our team has expanded recently and the new office provides much needed elbow room."

There's a beautiful boardroom for our important meetings with clients and candidates and improved space and privacy for our recruitment consultants (also known as the Jabber Jaws Department).

You can visit us for all your permanent and temporary staffing needs in our new home:
